This seminar deals with understanding, teaching and parenting our children. Ian will outline the challenges facing educators and parents over the last twenty years in educating and raising kids. One highlight of this engaging seminar will be discussing the impact of changes arising from DSM V for classifying conditions such as ADHD and ASD in young people.

Relationship strategies are covered as well as how to best relate to kids, understand their feelings and help them reach their true potential. A number of contemporary practices will be covered including some of Ian's 52 recommendations and their application to schools, homes and society generally. A host of quality handouts (paper-based and electronic) will be provided to each attendee as well as a copy of Ian's latest booklet on boys.
